A'nyia Jones Twinsburg

A'nyia Jones, a junior at Twinsburg High School, is currently enrolled in the Architectural & Mechanical Design (AMD) program at CVCC, led by instructor Erik Ward. Her passion for interior design started early, likely influenced by her love for binge-watching "Dream Home Makeover" on Netflix and frequently rearranging her room in her free time. After visiting CVCC, A'nyia knew the AMD program was the perfect fit, especially after having the recent opportunity to tour architecture firms and hear inspiring stories from industry professionals. She saw attending CVCC as a great way to set herself apart from her peers, gain an early start in the field, and clarify her career goals.

Although A'nyia has only been at CVCC for a short while, she's already seen a significant improvement in her study habits. Balancing two schools and extracurricular activities has pushed her to stay more organized and focused than ever before. The adjustment has been challenging but rewarding. So far, her favorite experience in the program has been working with a table saw. "We used a table saw in class recently to create blocks, and although it was intimidating and a bit scary at first, it ended up being really fun and exciting," she said.

After high school, A'nyia plans to pursue a college degree in interior design, with aspirations of working in retail design and a possible interest in designing for community centers or schools. Outside of her academic pursuits, A'nyia is involved in a number of extracurriculars at Twinsburg High School, including varsity cheerleading, Tigerettes (drill team), Blue Diamonds (dance team), and the Black History Club. In her spare time, she enjoys designing rooms for fun and spending time with her dogs. Keep up the great work, A'nyia!
