Kyle Yost, Class of 2025

CVCC turned Kyle's high school experience around for the better by providing him hands-on training, valuable soft skills, and a clear path forward. His program opened doors he never expected from building a 1981 Firebird and competing at the state level to working full-time at Village Autobody during his senior while also saving money for college and future projects. Kyle is currently continuing his education in welding and exploring opportunities he never thought possible thanks to the strong foundation his CVCC program provided him.

Enrolling in CVCC's Auto Body Repair & Refinishing program was one of the best decisions Cody made he said. While still in school, he had the opportunity to work at Caliber Collision, where he gained hands-on experience in detailing, parts, body work, and paint, all things that his CVCC program provided a strong foundation in. After graduating, he continued at Caliber Collision and advanced into the TAP program as a body tech apprentice, where the skills he learned at CVCC will continue to support his success.

Katie Manghillis, Class of 2005

Katie received a bachelor's in Education from the University of British Columbia (UBC) and her master's in Deaf Education from Kent State University. While at UBC, she received a Dean of Education scholarship; she believes she was chosen because CVCC had put her so far ahead of her peers. Katie attended CVCC because she wanted to be a teacher and always had a passion for working with the deaf community. She currently works for the Langley School District and primarily deals with K-12 students who have been identified as deaf or hard-of-hearing to assure they have the right tools in the classroom to be successful and learn at the same rate as their peers.

Nico Navez, Class of 2023

Nico valued the hands-on learning and supportive guidance of his instructor. Now attending Arizona State University, majoring in Kinesiology, Nico credits CVCC for giving him a strong foundation which has helped him excel in college. He encourages students to pursue their passions, embrace challenges, and strongly believes that taking risks and stepping outside one's comfort zone leads to growth and success.

Madison Vance, Class of 2021

As a former athlete, Maddie has always had an appreciation for the importance of exercise and staying active, but was unsure of her career path when entering the CVCC SMES program. While at CVCC she learned an abundance of patient care and clinical skills, along with obtaining her National Academy of Sports Medicine Personal Training certification. Maddie is now a successful rehab assistant with Cleveland Performance Chiropractic and is also attending Baldwin Wallace University working towards her doctorate in Physical Therapy.
